SUBJECTS of the sermons in the Methodist church in the interests of the prohibition plebiscite on Sunday next will be: In the morning, "What the liquor traffic has done for us, and what we have done for it." Evening, "The present issue."

At Peace River Landing the crops were out by frost on June 15th. The weather had been dry up to that time, but rains started then and the crops were coming on well, but might be too late to ripen. The Church of England mission and Brick Bros. have the principal farms.

CANN & CO., stationers of Fort Steele, East Kootenay, B. C., have issued an excellent map of the Fort Steele section of East Kootenay, showing the line of the Crow's Nest railway from the Rockies to Kootenay lake, the principal gold and silver mines, and the celebrated coal mines. It is a most useful and interesting map. R. J. Cann, formerly of Edmonton, is the principal member of the publishing firm.

A PRIVATE letter from an Edmonton man at Dawson city, dated June 14th, has been received in which he says: "You will find enclosed the first copy of the Midnight Sun. This will give all information about the country, except the disagreement among the miners on account of the royalty and the reservation of half of the creeks. Certainly it is a good country, but the government wants it all, and wants miners to do the work. People are coming in by thousands, but are going across the lines very fast. I would not encourage any Edmonton boys to come here if the laws are not changed."

J. Haly and S. Emerson accompanied them.

A BEAR was shot recently at the Athabasca and the skin was brought to town for sale. Being summer fur it was worth little or nothing.

BEARS are reported to be coming numerous around the outlying settlements. Possibly coming in on account of the partial failure of the berry crop and possibly on account of fires.

THE Battleford Herald of August 12th says that while the Minnow was at Pitt, Paul Lechambre, the crop is quite as early as last year and in many cases quite as heavy.

On summer fallow it is quite as good. On old land not so good, but showing a most remarkable recovery since the latter end of June. Drilled crops are said to be much ahead of those sowed broadcast either by hand or with the seeder.

THE funeral of the late Mrs. Dinwoodie, of East Edmonton, took place on Tuesday afternoon last. A funeral address was delivered by Rev. Mr. Galloway, of South Edmonton, at the late residence of the deceased to a large assemblage of friends and neighbors. A funeral procession was then formed and proceeded to the Edmonton cemetery where the interment took place.

It is now stated that Joe Martin has consented to enter the Semlin cabinet in British Columbia. It is also stated that he has been offered the chief justice ship of British Columbia. Since the retirement of Premier Turner, of the opposition members, J. D. Prentice, of Lillooet, has been found to be disqualified and the Turner supporter, Stoddart, gets the seat. This gives Turner a majority of one in the house.

J. LIVINGSTONE left on Saturday for St. John, Peace River, carrying mail for the prospectors at and above St. John. Coming down he brought 350 letters, the postage on which amounted to $9.75. These did not include the mail of the H. B. C. Co., the mission, the police or the survey parties and the mail of the C. & E. Railroad.

Going out he took all that was at the post office for St. John, but there was twice as much to go from the H. B. C. Co. and other places for which he had no orders.

HARRY and SIDNEY TAYLOR returned from up the Athabasca yesterday. They were members of the Fingert party which attempted to take the launch Kenneth up the Athabasca and Slave rivers to Lesser Slave lake. The boat was hauled with great difficulty over the first eight rapids but after that the water lowered and further progress was impossible.

Thereupon attempted to return and got back over the first four rapids, when the launch again ran aground three miles above the mouth of Lesser Slave river. The Messrs. Taylor thereupon left the boat and went on to a canoe to the Landing. On the way down they shot a large black bear. Cyrus Gresh who was a member of the party, had joined one of the government survey parties. Frings and the two remaining members of the company are awaiting the return of Fred Ross' party, from whom they expect to get assistance in hauling the boat over the remaining rapids, after which they will bring it back to the Landing.

W. HUMBERSTONE arrived home with a team on Thursday from Fort Assiniboine, where he had been putting in running order the Athabasca ferry to the north shore and with the high water. The tower and snubbing posts to which the cable was attached, having been carried away. The cause of letting go was that the south landing is on a low island, which necessitates a tower to raise the cable sufficiently high to clear the water in the river. The cable is stretched over this tower and fastened to snubbing posts farther back on the island. The water rose four feet over the island, the driftwood hitting against the posts loosened them, and gathering against the cable where stretched from the tower to the posts caused them to draw out, and the tower floated away. When Humberstone arrived at the ferry the scow was tied to the north shore and the cable drawn out of the water. A frail low tower had been built by travellers who attempted to replace the ferry. This was taken down by Humberstone and a substantial one rebuilt and the ferry again put in good running order, with a prospect of no more high water this season.

He left the Athabasca in the afternoon of Tuesday, arriving in Edmonton for dinner on Thursday, passing on the way several pack horses from the north, the Peace River mail, and the road engineer, and met A. McDonald and a party from Idaho, going north to Slave lake and Peace River.

BRITISH COLUMBIA POLITICS.

Provincial politics in British Columbia seem to be considerably mixed. As soon as Lieut. Governor McInnes was satisfied that Premier Turner did not command the support of a majority of the assembly he very properly instructed him not to make use of the patronage power, for the obvious reason that if he, the premier, was allowed a free hand in the use of that power he might use it to purchase support that had not been given him by the votes of the electors. The premier persisted in the use of the power, presumably for the purpose indicated, and the lieutenant-governor then very properly asked for his resignation. So far the course was clear and easy, but the difficulty came in the necessity of forming a new government to replace that of Premier Turner. In the first place the opposition had not a working majority. It was therefore necessary to choose some one as leader who would probably increase the strength of the former opposition. And right here appears to be where the lieutenant-governor made his mistake. Mr. Semlin was leader of the opposition in the late assembly, and in the natural course of events was entitled to be first called upon to form a new government. Instead, Mr. Beaven, a former leader of a former government, but a defeated candidate in the late election, was called upon, no doubt in the hope that he would bring to the opposition the strength necessary to give it a working majority and thereby enable it to carry on the government. While Mr. Beaven might have been able to bring in new blood in opposition to the late premier he was not able to secure the support of the leaders of the opposition as elected, and finally gave up the attempt. Then Lieutenant-Governor McInnes called on Mr. Semlin. If Mr. Semlin had been called on first, as he was entitled to be, and had failed to form a government, then it might have been in order to call on Mr. Beaven, but not until then. Calling upon Mr. Beaven first was clearly a slight upon Mr. Semlin and through him upon the other members of the opposition, amongst whom is Joseph Martin. He felt the slight and united with Mr. Semlin in an arrangement whereby neither of them would accept office under Mr. Beaven, and whereby when the inevitable appeal to some elected member of the opposition was made, it should be left to the opposition as a body to decide who should be leader and undertake the task of forming a government. Mr. Semlin it appears only considered this agreement binding in so far as it prevented him accepting office under Mr. Beaven. It was not binding in the part which referred the question of leadership to a party caucus. But Mr. Martin considers it binding, and refuses to take office under Mr. Semlin. This leaves Mr. Semlin no better off than Mr. Beaven and puts the lieutenant-governor in a difficult position. For if no other person can form a government that will have a fair prospect of being supported by the majority of the house he will have to recall Mr. Turner; and if Mr. Turner refuses to come, Lieutenant-Governor McInnes will have to go. For the justification for his action in dismissing Premier Turner depends entirely on his success in finding someone able and willing to take the premier's place. Under the circumstances Mr. Martin's refusal to condone Mr. Semlin's alleged breach of faith seems likely to lead to consequences so serious as to make it very doubtful tactics. On the other hand the provocation was great. No doubt Mr. Martin as a member who had fought a hard and successful battle did not feel like playing jackal to the choice of the lieutenant-governor. And possibly the selection of Mr. Beaven was made for the purpose of sidetracking Mr. Martin from the leadership which was almost certain to come to him ultimately in succession to Mr. Semlin, if not by choice of the party over that gentleman.

H. JENNER RETURNS FROM LIARD RIVER.

H. Jenner arrived on Sunday from Fort Simpson and the foot of the rapids on the Liard river. The following are the parties who tracked up the Liard from Fort Simpson last fall: Jenner party—Fred and Hal Jenner, A. S. Weeks and A. E. Schaefer. Stephen party—T. A. Stephen, W. R. Howey, H. Woodward, A. Gibney, A. E. Lee and D. Carey and son. Shand party—Jas. Shand, M. Velgus, P. de Wolf and N. Atkinson. Graham party—W. J. Graham, W. Shrieves, Menesely and Boland. Pelly party—Messrs. Pelly, Wright and two sons of chief factor Camell, of Fort Simpson. Purches party—Geo. Purches and Geo. Filadeau. Purches and partner only reached Fort Liard, 182 miles above Simpson and wintered there. The Steven party held up about 25 miles above the mouth of the Nelson. The Jenner party were held up a little above Toad river, having pushed along until they met running ice. After being stopped by the ice the Jenner party made two trips westward trying to find a route by which they could sled their goods around the rapids. They decided that this was impossible and therefore wintered there. The Stephen, Shand and Graham parties split up. Stephen and Howey prepared to winter where the ice met them. Lee, Woodward and Gibney, of that party, and all of the Graham, Shand and Pelly parties pushed on as best they could singly, or in twos or threes, when the ice became sufficiently strong. They made sleighs loaded them and pushed on half a day. Cashed the stuff there and came back to camp for night; repeating this operation until all the supplies had been moved to the new camp. Then the process was repeated. This of course was very slow and laborious, as only the Pelly party had dogs. After these parties got well away the Jenners never saw them again. Another party comprising A. C. Kemp, of Montreal; two Montana men and F. McLeod, son of the H. B. Co. officer at Fort Liard, passed up the river from Resolution with dog teams. A Mr. Stone, who was engaged in collecting natural history specimens for some institutions in the United States, had come from the Pacific coast up the Stikine and down the Dease and Liard to the new H. B. post at the mouth of Black river, reaching there in the fall. He employed Indians during the winter to portage his supplies from the mouth of Black river to the foot of the rapids on the Liard not far above Jenner's camp. He came down the river bound for Simpson and Peel river as soon as the ice was gone. He reported having seen all the parties pass the post at the mouth of the Black river, except one man who was reported to be behind. This man never arrived; and the Indians who were hauling Stone's supplies reported on their last trip having found "the body of a white man on the Devil's portage. As W. J. Graham speaks of one of the men from Sault St. Marie, who started with him, having been frozen to death this is probably the man, and as the other of these two, named Boland, was drowned, no doubt this is the man whose name was given in the BULLETIN as Meneeley. Of course the identity of the man is only conjecture, and the name uncertain. Stephen and Howey had started down the Liard before Jenners, and left Simpson for Peel river before they reached there. Stephen was going down to Macpherson, intending to return this fall on the H. B. steamers. Howey met E. St. Jean, of Fort Saskatchewan, at Simpson and they went down together intending to go through to Dawson. They left Simpson about May 18th. The Pilon party, with which St. Jean started from the Landing, had wintered at the Nehanni river and had spent the winter in exploring for a route over to the Pelly or Macmillan. It is supposed that he failed as the Indians reported his having gone down the river in the spring. Purches and Filadeau turned back down the Liard with the Jenners, and went on to Peel river. The Jenners intended to go on up the Liard in the spring, but during the winter Hal Jenner and another member of the party were attacked by scurvy, rendering them unfit for the hard work necessary. Although they recovered somewhat by spring, and particularly after reaching Fort Liard where they lay up a week and fed on potatoes, they were then too late to take advantage of the low water of early spring. It is practically impossible to ascend the river in high water. Having missed the first low water they would probably be at Dawson by taking the Peel river route sooner than they would be able to ascend the Liard in the low water of the fall. The Liard opened on May 6th and the Jenner party left their winter camp on the Liard on May 9th, and after lying over a week at Fort Liard reached Simpson on May 24th. Hal Jenner remained there until June 29th when he took the Wrigley for Fort Smith. John Garrett, of Milvain and Garrett, of Pincher Creek, was laid up at Simpson with scurvy, but was recovering. Milvain had gone on.

The Grose party had reached Simpson from Peace River Crossing on Saturday, June 25th. As they were landing, having pulled up near the shore, the cook, J. Bouret, stepped off the boat into the water thinking it to be shallow. He had on gum boots reaching to the hips. Instead of the water being shallow it was very deep and he went down out of sight at once, and was drowned. It was about 20 minutes after he had disappeared before the body was recovered. The heavy boots full of water, no doubt, kept him from coming to the surface. He was buried on Sunday, June 26th. The party went on Monday, the 27th. Although there were many narrow escapes and some loss of property in running the rapids and crossing Great Slave lake, this is the only drowning reported this season on the Mackenzie route. Mr. Jenner's party prospected on their way up the Liard, but only found colors, nothing to pay as far as they went, but they were not as far as the known gold-bearing region, which commences above the Devil's portage immediately west of the Rockies.

To the Electors of the Edmonton Electoral District.

GENTLEMEN:—Having been repeatedly urged by a number of the electors of this constituency to allow my name to be submitted for the candidacy of this electoral district in the election of members for the next Legislative Assembly for the Territories, I have at length consented.

As you are no doubt aware the elections will, in all probability, be held early this autumn, and I now beg leave to announce my candidature, and I ask your support and influence in the coming contest.

I may safely say that to the most of you I am personally known, and you also know that, ever since I came to this country, now nearly twenty-two years ago, I have been actively engaged in the farming, for this reason, among others, I humbly urge my fellow electors to support a constituency which is essentially a farming country.

I claim that in order to fully represent the will of the people in any capacity, the majority of whom are of a certain calling in life, one having the necessary practical experience in that calling, and being fully acquainted with the wants and necessities peculiar to that class, should be chosen.

I do not come before you soliciting your suffrages upon any party platform, and I desire to be distinctly understood that I am not an out and out independent candidate, owing allegiance to no party other than to my constituents.

While I do not undertake to guard more zealously the interests of one class than those of another, yet, if honored by election I shall make it my chief aim, among other things, to do my utmost towards obtaining a more prudent expenditure of public moneys apportioned to the improvement of roads, the paving of streets, the construction of a large control of cattle and other stock running at large, and for such needed amendments to our statute book laws.

While distinctly of the farmers and from the farmers and owing no allegiance to any particular party, I shall at all times be true to the interests of the whole community, and I shall endeavor to give my heart and independent support to all measures that will conduce to the material welfare of the District of Alberta, no matter from whom or from what party they may emanate.

Before the date of election I hope to be able to meet you in person and explain to you more fully my platform, and personally appeal to you for your support, and if, in your wisdom, you do not think see fit to endorse my candidature, believe me that I shall still regard you with unabated friendship.

I remain, your humble servant,
ROBERT MCKENNEY.
Edmonton, July 23rd, 1908.

PORT SIMPSON.

Messrs. J. T. Harling, Chicago; H. Freeman and H. Groath, of Joliet, Ill.; and H. Jenner, of Edmonton, arrived from Fort Simpson on Sunday. Messrs. Harling, Freeman and Groath went north this spring bound for Peel river. They left the Landing on April 10th and reached Resolution on Great Slave lake on June 18th. They left Resolution that day with a fair wind and ran to within a mile of the mouth of Hay river by the evening of the 19th. The wind had risen to such a storm that they were compelled to beach their boat. A considerable part of their supplies were damaged by water coming into the boat. They and about twenty other boats were held up for four days at Hay river mission. Some of them had very narrow escapes in the storm. One man named Archie Munro, who had come down Peace River in a canoe, had his boat under water for several hours, but finally reached land with most of his supplies, which were damaged, however. They left Hay River on the 23rd and reached Providence on the 26th, and Simpson on the 28th. The parties who had gone down the river last fall had all passed Simpson and gone on to Peel river, which was the destination of nine-tenths of the parties going down this season. Only five boats went up the Liard. The Enterprise and Minne-ha-ha steamers had passed Great Slave lake safely and were on their way down the Mackenzie.

Owing to so much of the provisions of their party having been spoiled in crossing Great Slave lake Messrs. Harling, Freeman and Groath decided to return from Simpson. They took the Hudson's Bay steamer Wigley there on June 29th and reached Fort Smith on July 3rd. From Smith they came to McMurray on the Graham and tracked up the river from there to the Landing. The steamboat fare from Simpson to McMurray was $55.50 and meals 25c. The charge made by the Wigley for towing across Great Slave lake was from $10 to $40 according to size of boat. The Wigley left Fort Smith for Peel river on July 12th. On her return she will bring the latest news from the portage. This will reach Edmonton in September. There also returned by steamer from Simpson two Green Bros.; Ward Hunt, of the Keely party; Noble and Elliott, of Major Johnston's party; Moses Liebman, of the Steven party; W. M. Sherman, Chicago; and E. J. Hartigan, of Minneapolis. These latter are waiting at Grand Rapids for the Hudson's Bay Co. transport to return from McMurray. Most of the Yukon bound boats were past Fort Smith on July 3rd. Only a small number was met between Smith rapids and Athabasca and only one or two between Chipewyan and McMurray. None were met above McMurray.

LEMEN'S CIRCUS.

Large Crowds Pleasingly Entertained At Yesterday's Performances.

First From August 2nd, '98.

The first performances of Lemen Bros.' circus were given yesterday afternoon and evening on the grounds opposite the general hospital. There was a good attendance and the crowd came away well pleased with what they saw. The performance in the rings and on the platform was all of it good and some of it extra good. In the latter class would fall the bareback riding of little Edna, who performs the difficult feat of turning a somersault on the back of a galloping horse. The first time she tried it yesterday she missed her slippery footing and went flying to the ground, but recovered herself immediately and gained all the more applause by successfully accomplishing the feat on succeeding trials. A very taking act was that by two artists, one of whom held up a long slippery pole while the other performed various pretty feats the top of it. Two lady acrobats did some splendid balancing work on the trapeze, even swinging through a wide arc while standing upon the bar. Two sets of three men did some very good tumbling acts, some of which were after the style of those performed by the Bartlett at the exhibition. The flying ladder and flying rings were both entertaining, as was the performance of two of the acrobats in flying leaps, the latter being the best exhibition of the kind ever seen here. A little squad of clowns played baseball, set off firecrackers and in other ways created amusement. Four trained horses did some very clever work in the ring. A team of four, two gentlemen and two ladies, contributed a series of tumbling acts. The show ended with the usual hippodrome races, including the Roman chariot race, pony race, man against horse, mule race, etc. There will be two more performances to-day.

In the menagerie the finest specimen of elephant flesh ever seen in the city is on exhibition. Rajah was captured on the Island of Singapore and brought to America in 1892. He is only 28 years of age and is a kindly fellow. He stands two inches taller than Barnum's Jumbo and weighs 2,000 pounds more. Yesterday afternoon he had covered his back with hay to keep the flies from annoying him and kept himself busy throwing his trunk in every direction. He eats about 1,000 pounds of hay a day and appears to thrive upon it. His legs are chained to strong stakes, as Rajah is not always in the best of humor and must not be given any freedom. He has two companions, a male and female, much smaller. The female is 75 years of age and bears the sweet name of Jennie. She is a native of India; the other male 28 years old and is from Burmah. The boxing kangaroo was a big attraction. This unique animal has the gloves placed upon her forepaws and given an exhibition that is not only amusing but wonderful. There is a cage of lions, three females and two males. One of these was born on the night of President McKinley's election. There are 36 ponies, comprising dapple greys and Shetlands, bears, deer, tigers, cougars, pumas, camels, etc., the whole forming an interesting and educational collection. Exhibit at South Edmonton Saturday, August 27th.

ANGUS RIDGE.

Messrs. George Waterman and Alf. Ellis were the guests of Mr. Manser on Wednesday. The weather has been all that could be desired this week. Crops are doing well. Mr. Abbott is one of the lucky men, with a crop as good as last year. Mr. and Mrs. Richardson visited Mr. and Mrs.

McKay on Tuesday. Rev. Purdy was the guest of Squire Shantz on Wednesday. Several from this district are buying hay seven or eight miles from here. J. A. Calder, R. A., North Alberta's popular inspector, passed through the village on Wednesday. Political matters are rather quiet here at present. We trust all the candidates will favor us by holding political meetings and announcing their platform. Aug. 11, '98.

An Ontario Farmer Rescued by Paine's Celery Compound.

WELLS & RICHARDSON CO., GENTLEMEN—It is with very great pleasure that I testify to the value of your great medicine, Paine's Celery Compound. For nearly two years I suffered from indigestion and kidney and liver troubles. After trying several medicines that did not effect a cure, I decided to try your compound. Before using it I was so low in health that I could not eat or sleep. I could not lie in bed owing to pain in my back, and it was only by resting on my elbows and knees that I was enabled to obtain a slight degree of ease. Before I had fully taken one bottle of your medicine I began to improve. I have now taken in all fourteen bottles with grand results. I am a farmer and am now working every day. I am a living witness to the worth of Paine's Celery Compound. Yours truly, G. J. SMITH, Sheffield, Ont.

The talent workers of the Presbyterian church held a flower show and promenade concert in Robertson hall on Tuesday and Wednesday afternoon and evening. The hall was handsomely and elaborately decorated with evergreens, colored bunting, etc. The stage was made a most luxurious drawing room, and masses of house plants and flowers of the best that Edmonton could produce—and Edmonton does not take any second place in flowers—were tastefully disposed throughout the hall. Several refreshment tables were managed by the talent workers and their friends. Cut flowers and candies were sold, and music on the piano enlivened the proceedings. There was a good attendance and a very satisfactory amount was realized for the talent fund. The committee of management were Mrs. D. J. C. Robertson, Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. Dunlop, Mrs. Kelly, Mrs. Jas. Goodridge and Mrs. McQueen. The refreshment tables were conducted by Mrs. Dunlop, Mrs. Kelly, Mrs. Anderson and Miss Jennie Lander. The committee desire to specially thank McIntosh & Whitelaw for the use of the furniture and decorations of the stage, Messrs. Campbell, Harwood and Miss Annie McLeod for their labor and taste in the arrangement, and the many friends of all denominations who contributed flowers, or otherwise assisted in making the affair a success. The cut flowers were from the green house and garden of D. Ross and the market garden of Mr. Grey of Clover Bar. The mammoth truck recently brought down the river by John Fraser was also on exhibition, and added to the interest of visitors. The total receipts amounted to between $75 and $80.

FRAUD UNMASKED AND EXPOSED.
For some years the ladies of Canada have suffered much loss and inconvenience from use of deceptive home dyes put up to look like the popular Diamond Dyes. These imitation package dyes were sold at very low prices to retail merchants, who in turn made immense profits on them when sold to women who were unfortunately influenced by them.
These imitations of Diamond Dyes were never sold more than once to any woman. They possessed no foundation qualities or good points to make them valuable or popular. They were made of the cheapest ingredients, the colors were dead, muddy and unsightly, and they ruined all materials they came in contact with. These common dyes are so despised and shunned that storekeepers are glad to sell them at half price to be rid of them.
The Diamond Dyes are still marching on to new victories, and have always maintained their position by true merit alone. Beware of the imitation and cheap dyes that are still pushed on the unsuspecting by some dealers. If a storekeeper values your trade he will recommend you to use the Diamond Dyes.
